

SHOEMAKER

WE BUILD EVERY PROJECT LIKE WE BUILD HOSPITALS:

WITH INTENSIVE CARE.

When the Shoemaker Company started building office towers and apartment complexes 36 years ago, we knew we were building a reputation for excellence as well. And when we started building hospitals and health facilities a few years later, we knew those clients would be even more demanding. And they were. Close wasn't good enough. Exactness was critical.

Today, you'll find that demand for excellence throughout every Shoemaker office. It's a philosophy of concern, of direct involvement with each aspect of your construction project.

This concern ensures greater attention to detail, better cost control and precise scheduling for the entire job. It ensures a hospital standard of quality, on time and on budget.

We still build hospitals, over a million square feet a year. Offices, shopping centers and apartments, too. All are built with care. Intensive care.

Doesn't your next project deserve the Shoemaker intensive care team?
